

CANCER COUNCIL WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Complementary and Integrative Therapies Advisory Group

Integrative and Complementary Medicine: Enhancing Cancer Care

Monday
7 December 2009

Welcome
Refreshments
6.00pm

Meeting
6.30-7.30 pm

Level 3
Conference Centre
St John of God
Hospital
25 McCourt Street
Subiaco

Professor Avni Sali

MBBS, FRACS, FACS, FACNEM, PhD.

Professor Sali is President, Australasian Integrative Medicine Association (AIMA). He is also Director, National Institute of Integrative Medicine. President, of the International Council of Integrative Medicine. International Advisory Board of the American Academy of Anti-Ageing Medicine.

Integrative oncology refers to the use of scientifically-proven complementary therapies along with orthodox medical treatments. Professor Sali's research interests are mostly in integrative medicine and include various clinical, behavioural, nutritional, herbal and exercise research. His clinical expertise is in the cause of disease, cancer, difficult health problems as well as health advice. He is author and co-author of several books and chapters.

Recent advances in integrative medicine in the care of cancer patients will be reviewed, with special emphasis on mind-body medicine, exercise and diet.

CHAIR - DR CATHY D' CRUZ

GP Representative, Cancer Council

Complementary and Integrative Therapies Advisory Group

RSVPs to Venna Manricks Friday 4 December 2009

by fax: 9212 4398, phone: 9212 4375 or email: vmanricks@cancerwa.asn.au

- Yes, I will be attending this meeting
 No, I will not be attending this workshop but am interested. Please advise me of future workshops.

Name:..... Phone no:.....

Organisation:.....Email:.....

Department
Health

